NEXT WEEK'S RUN: COMORO AREA COWPAT & RUSTLER (A farewell run?)

LAST WEEK'S RUN REPORT

SCRUBBER'S MONKEY PUZZLE TOUR

As the dark clouds built up over the hills to the south, SCRUBBER took out his waterproof flour and set about marking a run appropriate for the name of the venue.

The enthusiastic throng that gathered at 4.00 pm ETT (East Timor Time) could hardly wait to get to the trail. Even ROAD KILL couldn't restrain himself and joined the dubious ranks of the FRBs as soon as the first On On was heard.

At first the cunningly placed falsies worked to keep the pack together and STUBBY was heard to remark that she didn't like all the falsies because she couldn't get into her stride!

However the human bloodhounds DIK KALI and BB were soon off, noses to the ground, destroying private garden and newly constructed retaining walls in the quest to be FRB No 1.

But the other Hashers had different intentions. Returning runner BUPS and HUB CAP were out to enjoy themselves and took time to sample the delights of Mota Bemori and the other potential farming land traversed by the trail. COWPAT used it as a training run since her recent leave excesses had made her upcoming physical into a major challenge.

Soon the pack was strung out in a long line as the bloodhounds correctly guessed that HC2 would be on top of the only hill in the area. Even the Hash Horn, now the responsibility of the soon to be named RUSTLER, was so far ahead that he couldn't be heard by the back markers.

From the lofty heights of HC2 the newbies got a chance to see the backside of Dili while, appropriately, BROWN EYE, from Batavia Hash, inspected the Balinese Temple while giving HAIDROLIK a lesson in Indonesian religion.

From there the trail meandered northwards to HC3 at the new Becora Market with SCRUBBER disappointed that no one had fallen into his carefully prepared mud trap.

And then the sensible, short On Home was just long enough to give many runners, notably SEXON, the chance to tell the Hares what a wonderful run it had been.

CIRCLE CIRCUS

In these salubrious surroundings the Dili Hashmen of all sexes performed a prolonged version of their usual post run ritual. Was this because more transgressions than usual were committed (or just discovered) or were the GM and RA carried away by the enthusiasm of the appreciative audience of Monkey Bar regulars?

Apart from the pleasure of welcoming more newbies and the photo of what a Hash Circle is like in heaven on BROWN EYE's T shirt, the highlight of the proceedings had to be the masterly way in which our GM deflected all the down downs aimed at him on to other unsuspecting innocents.

No SKIPPY this week so no POTW award. We hope he hasn't succumbed to his sore foot - or couldn't he make it without WONDER BRA support?

After having dug a hole 100m deep, British scientists found traces of copper wiring dating back 1000 years and came to the conclusion that their ancestors already had a telephone network one millennium ago.

So as not to be outdone, in the weeks to follow, the French dug to 200m and headlines in the French newspapers read: "French scientists found traces of 2000 year old optical fibres, and concluded that their ancestors already had advanced high tech digital telephone networks 1000 years earlier than the Brits."

One week later, the Irish press reported the following: "After having dug as deep as 500m, Irish scientists found absolutely nothing and concluded that 5000 years ago, their ancestors were already using cellular."
