LAST WEEK'S RUN REPORT BY THE HARES

BROWN EYE & MAPLE TURD's RIVERSIDE RAMBLE

"The longest run I've been on so far", "the longest shit", "where was the flour and the arrows?" "nobody said anything about the crap paper" "were also supposed to follow the yellow arrows?" – just a few of the comments which were heard around the circle before the GM called the hares, BROWNEYE and MAPLE TURD in for their reward for laying the run(s).

Two trails – one for the walkers and one for the finely honed hashletes. The walkers had a quiet stroll across the Comoro bridge before they were caught by the runners at the first Hash Hold. PAVAROTTY in fine voice lead us in the hash hymn - and was still spitting on both hands – "99, 100,..change hands". Then past the ETTA yet to be distributed vehicle park and a couple of useful checks before tiptoeing through the peanuts and maize.

Another Hash Hold - no sign of PAVAROTTY. BROWNEYE then elected himself to provide a little ditty with the chorus – "All Pommies are Bastards". The walkers, who had not yet joined the circle then emerged from the maize. Amazing !

The short trail went left at that point and the runners trail went right eventually collecting PAVAROTTY who emerged from behind a recently refurbished house.

Over a low hill, down hill and across the road, a scramble up the bank which led onto the road to the water supply tank for western Dili. The old hands denied that this had been the site of an earlier run despite the copious green spots and green arrows on the road. Future hares please note – don't put paint on permanent surfaces – you bugger-up somebody else's run.

In the meantime the walkers strolled back on the track along the west bank of the Comoro, over the bridge again and on home.

Down from the water tank past the dogs, kids and head high wire clothes line and back onto the flat heading for the river.

The Comoro – a torrent the week before had barely enough flow to wet the ankles. No trouble to trained air persons and others and after that it was find your own way home for the front runners who totally ignored an obvious yellow arrow directing them to the left.

Last one home in 65 minutes. For a barely good long run.

THE TRUTH

An good length Hash run catering for everyone. Note the well marked trail and the fairly evenly spaced Hold Checks giving the non-road runners plenty of chances to recover and, of course, the pizzas after the Circle!

CIRCLE CIRCUS

The SCB remnants of the pack straggled into the back of Phil's Grill looking like Vietnamese refugees crossing a battlefield rather than finely tuned athletes after a short ramble in the bush.

With a makeshift sunshade and a fresh cooling breeze our REAL GM (for a change) led the Circle. It was again a well-behaved and fairly subdued (or should that be weary) crowd despite the best efforts of PAVAROTTY to drink all the beer himself and BROWNEYE to make sure no one missed out on the liquid rewards.

The permanent leavers were again in attendance with still no firm date in sight. But we don't mind if they never leave!

SCRUBBER was a deserved winner of the POTW and the afternoon was rounded off by an ample supply of very tasty pizzas provided by our generous Hares. Is this going to become a regular feature of our Sunday afternoons?

"Please help me nurse, I'm at death's door!"
"Never mind, The Doctor will pull you through!"

A woman awoke excitedly on Valentine's Day and announced enthusiastically to her husband, "I just dreamed that you gave me a pearl necklace for Valentine's day! What do you think it means?"

With certainty in his voice, the man said, "You'll know tonight."
 That evening the man came home with a small package and handed it to his wife. With anxious anticipation the woman quickly opened the package to find a book entitled - "The Meaning of Dreams".
